Spirit Week

Over the course of the week of January 23-27, students got to participate in many exciting activities. Classroom Wars was on Monday complete with a dodgeball tournament. The second grade gnomes won for elementary. The eighth grade baristas won for middle school, and the senior Toy Story theme won for the high school.

Tuesday was Mathlete or Athlete Day with a game that combines smarts and strength... Rock, Paper, Scissors. Senior Sydney Hawkins said she used the internet to come up with her costume idea, "I just looked up math teacher or math teacher costumes or something like that and I found it"

Wednesday was everyone's favorite- Pajama Day with a bed time-themed four corners game. Thursday was the final day of games with us being heroes and trying to stop the Villain the Penguin. This was a series of videos with challenges. The week wrapped up with everyone dressed in all of their Bobcat spirit.

KINDNESS WEEK

This week was Kindness Week and our Bobcats celebrated by having an older class help a younger class with a Valentine's themed art project. Other classes played sharks and minnows together.

Having a smaller school gives us the opportunity to have interaction between students of all ages. Kate Blessman, K4 student, was happy that they helped her with her project. Senior Evelina Teslyuk, said they were very fun to help. Andrey Svetlichnyy, K5 student, was thankful for Parker's (Wegner) help with the glue.

In addition to the organized activities, students were encouraged to put "kindness confetti" on the wall in the lunch room, as well as doing something nice for someone else. It was a great opportunity to have students focus on being kind to one another.

The students and staff would like to thank the members of the Parent Teacher Fellowship for their help with organizing the crafts and games
